THE PENNANT

A NNUAL • 1949

records the story of our growing up in Elkhart. Here, in this beautiful town with wide rivers winding through tree-shaded streets and lovely parks, the years of our lives have flowed swiftly along.

As we graduate we look back, remembering much that has happened: we recall our first days of school; we remember "the many lessons that we've learned", games, friends, and many incidents and experiences.

And looking back we see that it isn't just that we're bigger, nor that we've learned a lot, but that we've changed in many other ways. Our thoughts and attitudes, our ideas and beliefs, our emotions—all these have grown and altered.

And so, we recall our school days, and those experiences that were a part of our growing up.

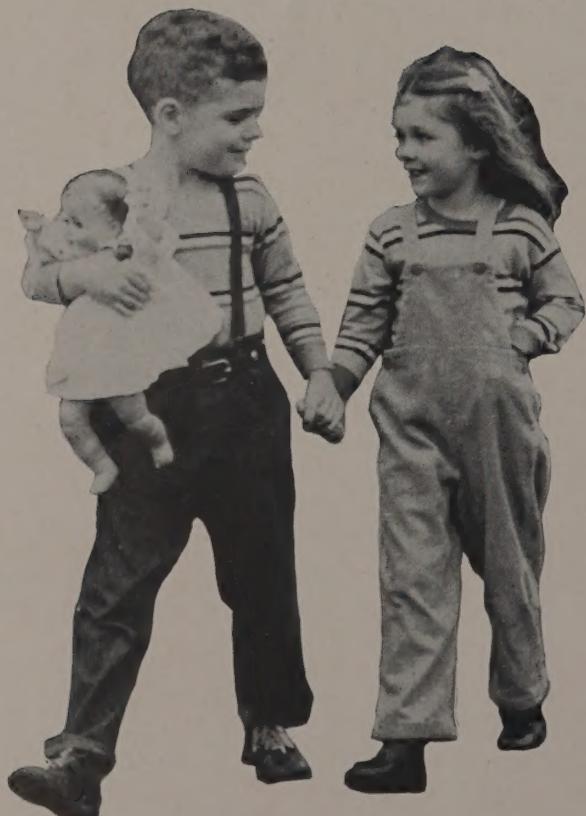

in Kindergarten which was a new and exciting experience. It was frightening at first, but we soon forgot our fears and we learned to love and to enjoy every minute of school.

Most of our time was spent playing games, taking naps, listening to stories and learning to count—but in general, learning to use our minds and bodies and to get along with people.

It was here we began to grow in many ways.

and felt a growing importance in the life of the school.

We were given small duties to perform: watering the flowers, cleaning the erasers, and washing the blackboards. We appeared on radio programs, played in the band or in song-flute classes, acted in plays, took part in assembly programs, ran errands for the teachers and worked in the library. We served as patrol boys and girls, sold tickets for school affairs and learned to take care of the money.

Now that we were big boys and girls, we found that there were many exciting things, besides lessons, to do at school, and we loved it.

IN JUNIOR HIGH WE WERE TAKING PART IN THE LIFE OF

where we considered ourselves really important. Now we knew that although school was fun, there was a serious side, too. Our texts, lessons and discussions were more grown-up; our part in the school's activities was a share in the planning as well as the doing. We took more interest in outside affairs, too: we read magazines, the newspapers and went to shows. We had our first dates; we felt independent and essential.

And so the busy days flew past.

We bachelors learn to sew.

where we had looked forward to being, and where we found that every day was filled with studies, sports, programs, rehearsals, club and class activities . . . work and fun.

Now we were really grown up. Now we were really important. We helped the faculty run the school: we sat on committees; we taught classes; we managed concessions and directed programs; we met new situations and helped make decisions.

School, with its lessons and activities and, most important of all perhaps, its setting for those dates and friendships, absorbed most of our time.

Facing new horizons . . .

JUST GROWING UP . . .

HAD A LOT TO DO WITH OUR THOUGHTS AND ACTIONS AND FEELINGS.

From the days when a penny  looked big and an ice-cream cone  was our only immediate desire, to the times when we earned our first folding money  and looked forward to new horizons, we have experienced many emotions. Our ambitions  have changed, our selfishness has grown into understanding, our lessons and our philosophies have enlarged, our club, church and social activities have altered . . . in many ways we are as different in feeling as we are in our stature and in our appearance.

OUR GROWING UP WAS A LOT OF LITTLE THINGS, AND A LOT OF BIG ONES, TOO, AS YOU WILL SEE IN THE FOLLOWING PAGES . . .

ONCE OUR WORLD WAS A SMALL WORLD . . . WARM, SHELTERED, LIMITED,

when even crossing the street was a hazard, and we needed protection. Going downtown was an adventure, and the world outside our schoolroom and our home was strange and bewildering.

Now, our world is big. We cannot see its limits in these days of fast planes and scientific discoveries. Our world includes the whole world; then again, it narrows to plans for our own futures. And so, as we face this big wide world, we are eager and excited, but we are also uncertain and a little frightened.

Growing up has brought many problems.

Looking to the future . . .

REALIZING THAT WE WILL SOON BE CITIZENS AND VOTERS . . .

we try, in our classes, to understand the world and its many problems. In our sophomore and junior years, we study world history and American history, in order to see how our ancestors lived. In this way we learn, from the experience of other generations, how to meet the world's problems more intelligently.

In the senior year, in studying the governments of both the United States and the State of Indiana, we take up the social and economic questions of our country today.

Not all our lessons are learned from text books. We learn about elections by staging our own. We visit a court session to learn, first-hand, what goes on; we visit banks to learn how money is handled.

Thus we prepare for our future as citizens of America and of the world.

"Voting" in the Presidential election.

We record our voices.

WE LEARN TO SPEAK OUR OWN LANGUAGE

In high school, we realize the importance of having a good speaking voice. At the beginning of the sophomore year, recordings of our voices are made and criticized in our English classes; at the end of the year more recordings are made to view the progress made. But this is only the beginning of a program to teach us to use better English and to improve our speaking voices.

En la clase de español . . . le cercle francés . . .

AND THOSE OF OTHER LANDS

In studying Spanish, French, or Latin, we not only learn to write and to speak them, but also something of the country's history, customs and traditions. Although practical experience in speaking is gained by everyday oral recitations in class, we are also encouraged to use the language outside school hours and in extra-curricular activities.

"The doors swing open; the doors swing out."

WE LEARN TO USE THE RADIO

Here at E. H. S., we have our own radio broadcasting system. It is one of the few in the state to broadcast directly from the school. The Speech Workshop sponsors a fifteen-minute program every Tuesday of every month: TEEN TOPICS are discussed; the RADIO JOURNAL broadcasts school news: WORKSHOP DRAMA and MUSIC IN THE AIR are the other topics.

The speech students learn how to interpret and write scripts, take and give cues, and use sound effects. In this picture a group is discussing the question: "Are Comics Detrimental to Youth?"

Mr. Wenger gives Joe the cue.

AND THE PRINCIPLES OF PHYSICS

Young women today are becoming more and more independent by learning to take care of their own equipment. The girls in this practical physics class will not have to depend on men when they want the iron, sweeper or percolator repaired.

They are taught how to take apart, repair and put together electrical home appliances; at the same time, taught the laws and principles of physics. In this way, girls may use their science knowledge to help solve everyday household problems.

WE LEARN TO MAKE ART PRACTICAL

Here at E. H. S., in addition to regular art courses, we think of art as having a practical side. We learn how to make homes and common everyday things more beautiful. We learn how to: hang and frame pictures correctly; refinish furniture; decorate textiles; and to use color to the best advantage. A special course in lettering and printing is offered for the printing majors.

AND TO INTERPRET THE NEWS

In this modern literature class, all forms of modern writing are studied: newspapers, magazines, novels, short stories. In studying pieces of writing, we are encouraged to develop critical thinking and to analyze propaganda. The modern reader is confronted by a wealth of printed material and a barrage of advertising, all of which he must be able to understand and interpret.

Fascinating science . . .

SCIENCE ABSORBS US

We study the sciences in modern up-to-date laboratories. The theory of "learning by doing" is especially stressed in the science classes. We conduct experiments to see for ourselves how organisms are made and how they work. We take field trips and interview people to get first-hand information.

Courses in Chemistry, Physics, Technical Physics, Physical Science, Biology, Advanced Biology are offered. Our science department recently was host to several teachers and professors from Jefferson High School and Purdue University who came here to observe our Practical Science Application Course.

The most puzzling slide-rule . . .

AND MATH PUZZLES US

Ever since the day we added 2 plus 2 in the first grade to the day when we began our study in Physics and Chemistry, we have constantly used mathematics. In the grades, we couldn't understand why we had to learn our tables but in high school, we begin to see the "why's" of it all. When we begin to study the various types of vocations, we can see the valuable part mathematics plays in this world of ours.

Students of Elkhart High have an unusual opportunity to study mathematics by the aid of instruments. Slide rules, transits, sextants, and several other tools are now being used. Tough as it is, mathematics is indispensable.

When we were very young . . .

our ambitions were mostly dreams.

We dreamed of being an aviator or an engineer or a movie star, with no worries about our ability or talent for such a career. All of these dreams were based on hero worship.

Now as we grow up, we are helped by our teachers and counsellors to see that we must measure our capacities and consider the training and skill essential to the job we would most like to have.

In high school we begin to chart our careers in a businesslike and practical way. Many of our courses, based on learning skills, help us to prepare for those careers.

THE GUIDANCE PROGRAM

stresses the growth of the pupil in all phases; in his life here at school and in his future in a democratic society.

The juniors have concentrated this year on choosing their vocations. During the months of October and November, each home room took the Kuder Preference Test and then discussed the results with their home room teachers. Films and library materials supplemented these findings.

Next, the pupils in each home room were grouped according to the areas of interest: clerical, nurses' training, selling, teaching, etc. These groups, often joining with those in other home rooms, got together to study and discuss the problems of their chosen vocations. In February and March, pupils heard talks, arranged by Miss Siner and Mrs. Sickels, by students who were already working at vocations. In April, juniors wrote themes on the topic, "Choosing My Career." This concluded their study of vocations.

THE GUIDANCE COMMITTEE AND

is really a sort of "school welfare" committee. Everything from the achieving of a grade A rating in the school cafeteria to the blue and white ribbons on diplomas is reviewed, appraised and planned by these guides of our school life. They are interested in everybody and everything; they have a "finger in every pie."

For the seniors, Miss Dorsett and her committee planned programs based on plans for the future. Home rooms were divided on the basis of college or career plans. Miss Dorsett and Mr. French talked over college problems with students who are college-bound. Mrs. Avery, Mr. Hart and Mr. Organ arranged talks and discussions of career-minded seniors. "How to Succeed on the Job, at School, With People" was the theme of these programs. Personality rating sheets were used as a basis for some of these programs.

The Guidance Council also steers the junior and sophomore home room programs and supervises the extra-curricular activities program.

THE COUNSELLORS

The counselling staff in E. H. S. consists of seven efficient faculty members who help the students with program and vocational problems. The girls' counsellors are: Miss Marie Sharp, senior class; Miss Katherine Jarvis, sophomore class; Miss Kirkland, junior class. Because of illness, Miss Kirkland had to be replaced by Mrs. Hines in the latter part of the year. The boys' counsellors are: Mr. Kerr, senior class; Mr. Gill, junior class; Mr. Rieth, sophomore class.

When the class of '49 entered high school as sophomores, a new counselling plan was inaugurated. Previously, the counsellors were assigned positions according to class ratings. For example, one faculty member was girls' counsellor for all the senior classes, one for the junior classes, etc. In this way, each class changed counsellors as they advanced a grade. In the new system, one faculty member was counsellor for the girls in a class through their sophomore, junior, and senior years. This new system enabled the counsellors to become better acquainted with the individual students and their problems. The class of '49 was the first class to be assigned counsellors who would follow them through three years. Miss Sharp is the girls' counsellor and Mr. Kerr, the boys'.

As a part of the guidance program, a three-year plan for college or career futures has been set up. Beginning with the sophomore year, the counselling staff, assisted by the home room teachers, has planned a program that culminates in the senior year with final choices.

In addition to this planning for the future, counsellors are available for help with personal problems. Each counsellor makes and maintains a three-year curricular program for each boy and girl on any one of the 13 available courses.

SHALL WE CHOOSE A CAREER

All through the year, the homeroom programs stressed plans for the future. Films, bulletin board displays, library material and talks gave pupils the chance to study vocations and to make up their minds about the futures in which they were especially interested.

Early in the year, seniors were divided into groups of those going to college and those planning careers. These groups heard talks on plans for college, scholarships, careers, applications, and requirements. In January, February, and March, the senior homeroom programs were built on the theme, "How to Succeed—on the Job, at College, with People." This program was started by the study of personality and the marking of a personality reading sheet which was devised by the counseling staff. As a follow-up, several talks were heard on the importance of health and grooming, the use of leisure time, the establishment of credit, and the basic needs for a well-rounded life. Mrs. Avery, Mr. Hart, and Mr. Organ, as senior chairmen, inaugurated these programs.

Career Night was held the evening of Tuesday, November 23, at 7:30 P.M. The purpose of this conference was to help boys and girls who are considering business colleges and girls who are considering nurses training schools.

This conference was for sophomores, juniors, seniors, and their parents. Over one hundred students, parents, and staff members attended.

Following a half-hour general session, short group conferences were arranged so that students and their parents had an opportunity to confer with several representatives. The general session for business schools was led by the chairman of the commercial department; the nurses training section, by the supervising nurse of city schools.

Students served as hostesses, served coffee to the guests, acted as chairmen of all sections, and reported all conferences.

OR COLLEGE?

College Day is an annual affair in Elkhart High School. Its purpose is to acquaint the students with the various accredited colleges and universities; thus they are better prepared to choose the school which they wish to attend after graduation from high school.

This year, College Day was held on Tuesday, November 9. The program was begun by Mr. Woodruff, who gave the greetings. Bill Nye, the president of the senior class, introduced Dick Walton, the chairman of the panel discussion. Dick presented the six student members and the five college representatives. The students were: Dick Walton, Phil Smith, Ronald Walton, Sarah Thornton, Barbara Bailey, and Pat Haselwood. The college representatives were: Mr. Carl Cooper, from Western Michigan College; Mr. Cole Brembeck, from Manchester College; Mr. Albert Wilson, from University of Chicago; Mr. Leo M. Hauptman, from Ball State Teachers' College; Mr. Sunderman, from Arthur Jordan Conservatory of Music.

The questions used on this panel were chosen from those turned in by seniors at a group meeting. Some of the problems discussed were: the advantages of a large school versus a small school, and a co-ed school versus a boys' or girls' school; the desirability of transferring from one school to another; the nature of a liberal arts course and what it prepared one for; the housing shortage; the difference between high school credits and college hours; the desirability of working in college or before going to college; the difficulty of getting good grades in college; the use of the lecture method of teaching; college entrance requirements; the desirability of enlisting before going to college; the exemption of college students from the draft.

College men give us some valuable pointers.

After the panel discussion, students were allowed three twenty-minute periods in which to attend group conferences with the various representatives. Those students desiring more information than already obtained could make an appointment with the representative from the specified college; parents were invited to attend these individual conferences.

This year, College Day was sponsored by the National Honor Society. Student hosts and hostesses greeted the guests. A check room and a guide service was furnished to direct the students and visitors.

The National Honor Society also designed a map showing the locations of many prominent colleges and universities in the mid-west.

HOMEROOM PROGRAMS LOOK TO THE FUTURE

The sophomore homeroom programs for this year, under the supervision of Miss Amsbaugh and Miss Deal, have been built around the theme, "Knowing Myself and My School." This included informative programs on tardy and absence slips, the report card, the significance of a cumulative record and school activities. The counsellors explained the requirements for graduation with the major and minor subjects. A study of grooming and manners, of the use of leisure time and an evaluation of their programs ended the year.

These sophomore programs were the first of a three-part plan for building a well-rounded pupil, who would be equipped for his place in life as a citizen, worker, taxpayer, voter and consumer. The second step, in the junior year, emphasizes the choice of a career, while the seniors concentrate on being a success.

Following the choice of a career and the study of what it takes to get a job and to succeed in that career, are the adjustments and knowledge necessary to the wise use of leisure time, the importance of a good personality and of knowing how to get along with people and settling on a philosophy which will make for a happy life.

Many men and women of our community helped us in carrying out this "life-adjustment education". Our own graduates and parents, the professional and business men and women gave their time and energy by coming in to give talks, make demonstrations and answer questions.

Turning to a more immediate need, all juniors and seniors home rooms concentrated on problems of dress and etiquette in the months of May and June. These homeroom programs planned by Miss Dorsett and the Girl's League, demonstrated proper conduct and appropriate apparel for the prom and graduation affairs.

WE CONSIDER TEACHING AND

The Future Teachers' Association, of which Mrs. Hines is sponsor, meets monthly in the high school cafeteria; outside speakers and student-teacher panel discussions furnish programs. Special programs are also arranged throughout the year, such as a trip to Mishawaka High School. Eleven members of the club accepted the invitation and went to hear a talk given by an exchange teacher who had recently returned from London, England.

The only officer for the year is Carolyn Peterson, secretary; various F. T. A. members have the responsibility of being chairmen of the meetings. A topic of interest to the student on teaching is presented to the club each meeting.

Five members of F. T. A. have had actual classroom training through the cadet teaching program. A plan is being devised so that students will be given credit for this type of work.

The purpose of the cadet teaching program is to acquaint students with the teaching profession and to give them practical experience under the supervision of a skilled teacher.

The cadets are given time to study the methods and qualifications of a teacher and to observe their supervisors at work. While observing, the cadet learns to adjust to the age and intelligence level of the group and to meet the individual needs of the children; the program enables qualified students to consider carefully the teaching field as a vocation. The following students have been participating in the program this year: Mary Chester, Pat Haselwood, Jackie Stover, Joanne Jordan, Rosie Reiner, Becky Romberger, Betty Embry, Helen Dally, and Jane Stringfellow.

STUDY FOR EFFECTIVE LIVING

The effective living course was outlined by Miss Dorsett to give the students a better understanding of themselves and other people. An intensive study was made of how to provide experiences which will awaken an interest in securing information about the use and value of psychology for happy home relationships. Also outlined was the study of escapes and of defense mechanisms which we use when we face obstacles; included in this are daydreaming, hysteria, temper tantrums, stealing, cheating, and lying.

A widely discussed topic was the appreciation of the importance of the family as a unit in society and as a tool to gain more knowledge for a successful home life. Under this heading come the responsibilities of the parent to the child, and the crises in family life today.

Health, leisure, and leisure pursuits are required for us to adequately meet our needs. Many opportunities may be found in Elkhart which we don't fully appreciate. We should make more use of these leisure opportunities to enrich our lives. A civic leader spoke to the students on this value.

The classes learned to appreciate the fact that life is a series of associations and constant adjustments. The students described the people with whom they associated every day, and indicated their outstanding traits.

The effective living course is also informative on the characteristics and needs of teen-age people in the field of social hygiene. It is recognized that information on sex questions is a normal, gradual and continuous study. A talk by the school nurse and a panel of parents of young children was used as another means of receiving information.

Last on the outline is the study of the necessity of finding some type of solitary recreation. Since the life of today is speedy and reckless, more time should be spent in our private pleasures—music, hobbies, gardening, and fishing.

This effective living course rose so quickly in popularity in E. H. S. that next year it will be offered as a full two-semester course.

WE LEARN SELLING

The selling or merchandising class meets one hour daily. The class consists of twenty-three students who not only have this regular class hour at school, but who must also work at least one hour daily in one of the downtown stores. Their grades and credits are a combination of their class grade and the grade given by the employer. Students have jobs in all kinds of stores: retail, drug stores, groceries, dress shops, and many of these lead into permanent careers.

In the classroom, the students learn about their merchandise, about the way to treat customers, and about methods used in selling and advertising. During the course of the year, speakers give the class the other side of the merchandising field. Field trips and demonstrations make the course practical, giving the pupils a chance to see actual selling operations.

On the job, the student puts into practice the things he has learned in the classroom, bringing back problems which he encounters for class discussion.

This course, originated by Miss Kirkland three years ago, has proved to be very beneficial to the students, who have been fortunate enough to have this valuable training before graduating and going out on jobs.

"Special on these, sir," says
George, persuasively.

Bookkeeping presents practical problems.

AND CLERICAL SKILLS

The students in a commercial course take typing for two years along with bookkeeping, shorthand, commercial law, and other related courses. In the first semester, the students learn how to manipulate the machine; in the second semester, they begin to type letters and various business forms. The whole second year is usually spent typing out translations from shorthand. This gives the student practice in shorthand, as well as accuracy in typing.

The students who take typing as an elective usually want it for personal use. Many of them are college preparatory students, taking it to make their college writing easier and neater. These students usually take typing for one year only.

A two-semester course in bookkeeping gives students a practical course for a career in business.

HOMEMAKING PREPARES FOR THE

The very efficient homemaking department helps the girl to develop ability to contribute toward a satisfactory solution to some of the problems that exist in her family in relation to foods, fabrics, and clothing.

First of all, the girl lists her own and her family's clothing needs. As a class project, each girl finds out what colors and types of clothing best suit her individually.

Then she analyzes her own wardrobe and decides what should be discarded, remodeled or altered. After the student has done this, she may work individually in the clothing room with whatever type of sewing she wants to do. As she sews, she learns how to buy and use patterns and materials, and how to use sewing machines and various machine attachments. She learns to mend, darn, press and make clothing budgets. In this way, girls acquire skill in using time, equipment and in planning and evaluating work done in this phase of homemaking.

In consumer education, she learns to test materials, to recognize good materials, to watch for evidences of good workmanship; thus, she is able to do purchasing for her family when she becomes a housewife.

Homemaking may be elected as a regular course from the ninth to the twelfth grades. Homemaking 9 gives the pupil a chance to meet real situations in relation to her personal, food, and clothing needs. Homemaking 10 helps the pupil understand her share of responsibility toward family happiness and continues the work begun in the first year with foods and clothing. This course also helps the 200 girls understand efficient ways to store and use food and equipment.

In the third year homemaking course, the pupil has an opportunity to do advanced work in foods and clothing; however, this course is open only to eleventh and twelfth grade pupils who have credit for homemaking 10. Homemaking 12 is offered to all pupils in the senior year. The pupils in this course learn how to meet the responsibilities that go with successful marriage and family life. They also study child guidance, home nursing, and home furnishings.

"Never underestimate the power of a woman" who has studied homemaking courses in E. H. S.

HOMES OF TOMORROW

The headline news concerning the homemaking department for this year is the handsome, re-built foods room, featuring six unit kitchens. Each unit has its own double-basin sink, full size range, steel cabinets, and dinette tables and chairs; one even contains an electrical disposal unit and electric dishwasher. An automatic washer, dryer, and ironer constitute a modern, efficient laundry unit. Pupils in Elkhart High School now have the good fortune of being able to work in one of the most attractive and modern homemaking rooms in the state. The modernizing program includes re-decorating the rooms and providing new equipment. Next in line for this improvement is the clothing room. The long-range modernizing of the home economics department will be completed with the furnishing of a third room to be used for social occasions, class discussions and demonstrations.

The Home Economics Department often prepares noon luncheons for the faculty and out-of-town guests. On April 7 the new kitchens were open for inspection when the vocational shops held P. T. A. open house. On April 4, the Home Economics department served tea to the faculty, when the regular faculty meeting was held in their newly-decorated rooms. A style show in the spring has become an annual homemaking department event. This style show, held on May 26, gives parents and friends the chance to see the articles of clothing made by the girls.

At present, the department includes a dining room, clothing laboratory, and fitting room. The central and senior high classes have been taught this year by Miss Anna Amsbaugh, Mrs. Zora Patton, Mrs. Grace Hile, and Miss Bertha Depew, who is the department chairman.

PRINTING REQUIRES NIMBLE FINGERS . . .

The printing classes of our industrial department play a very important part here at E. H. S. The boys in these classes print almost all of the printed papers and forms used by the school. These projects include: concert programs, tickets, the Pennant Weekly, all kinds of blanks, passes, report cards, filing sheets, and many other projects for the city schools. This year, the boys printed The Central Spirit, and the Ju-Hi-An, a new Central year book. This book is on the same order as the Threshold, the only exception being that there are pictures in it. They also printed the Threshold in May and the curriculum books.

In this class of three hours a day, approximately 14 boys are in the advanced work. The boys taking this course are required to take art and journalism in addition to the printing class.

Mr. Isbell keeps a sharp eye on those guys and machines.

. . . AND DRILL PRESSES, A STEADY HAND

Every day the boys in these shop classes meet problems of a very real nature; practical training fits these pupils for places in the industrial world as capable workmen.

Moreover, the Industrial Department keeps in close touch with the industries of Elkhart. The Industrial Club encourages the ambition and skill of our shop students by awarding a prize at the end of each school year to the top-notch boy in each shop, and by entertaining students and teachers at an Industrial banquet.

Also as a part of the industrial program, a number of men, and women, in Elkhart takes special courses in the night classes offered for adults each winter, and many men and boys avail themselves of the special apprentice classes in our shops each Saturday morning.

Skills in handling machines of all types, like these lathes, are learned by the boys in the shop classes.

SHOP COURSES ARE PRACTICAL . . .

Shop courses in E. H. S. include training in aeronautics. The students working in auto aircraft classes are taught the operation, construction, and maintenance of different kinds of aircraft, engines, ignition and hydraulic systems, carburetion, instruments and propellers. The very complete and assorted line of tools and maintenance equipment gives the student invaluable practical experience which is required in order to follow auto or aircraft mechanics as a career.

The Link trainer has made it possible for the students of preflight to receive basic orientation and elementary flight practice. This model plane will do everything a real plane will do except loop and roll. In this way, students get practice comparable to the first few hours of flight instruction. They learn the fundamentals of flying such as strato conditions, the complete nomenclature of planes, and the theory of flight.

Also in this shop, the study of auto mechanics is offered. The students study models of engines and learn the fundamentals of their repair. Then they tear down and rebuild broken motors. Students are allowed to bring in their own cars whose motors they repair or rebuild. By this method of teaching, the students gain much practical experience with and valuable knowledge about a variety of motors. While repairing the various motors brought in, they become acquainted with almost all makes and models of motors. After finishing this course, the students are ready to go to work as auto mechanics. While working, they receive additional training and have the opportunity to become highly skilled mechanics.

... FITTING EACH BOY FOR A JOB

Metal lathes, drill presses, and a metal saw are among the many machines found in the top-rate machine shop of our high school. Improvements are being made constantly to make this shop a better place to learn in. In May, three lathes were replaced by new nine-inch South Bend quick change lathes. There is now $100,000 worth of equipment in this shop.

After the boys leave the sophomore class in which they learn the simple fundamentals of a machine shop, they go into a three hour vocational machine shop for their junior and senior years. If they don't prefer to go into the three hour vocation, the boys may take another one hour course which is called machine shop eleven. If none of these courses appeals to the boys, they may specialize in auto, woodwork, or drafting.

The incoming freshmen spend an hour a day learning from the bottom up how to use machines. Then within the next three years students specialize in the course of their choice. Most of these courses are three hours in length so that a boy spends most of his time in one of these shops taking only two other courses in "book subjects." If at all possible he has a special program which enables him to get some "on the job" training. In this way, his courses and his job combine learning and practice.

Wilson and Beckett can fix anything . . . almost.

WE LEARN ABOUT TOOLS, EQUIPMENT,

Students in the electricity classes have a variety of equipment and projects to work on. Mr. Felmlee, the instructor, gives demonstrations and explains to the students how to do practical work in the field of electricity.

One very important piece of equipment used by the classes is the "Radio Breadboard." When working on radios, the students use this "breadboard" to make sure their hook-ups are wired right and to check other parts.

These classes do work useful to the whole school by repairing the visual education equipment. They also work on the various amplification systems used throughout the school; in the above picture, they are working with a small microphone system.

Equipment is practical, up-to-date.

FUNDAMENTALS AND MACHINES

Seven shop teachers, beginning at seven each morning, teach boys to use machines like this electrical saw, used in wood working.

Mechanical drawing, a four-year course, is offered in our industrial department. In the first of these four years called general shop, the boys learn the fundamentals of drawing. In the second year, drawing 10, they learn the underlying principles and also make one, two, and three view, isometric and oblique drawings.

This year the student had a chance to take architectural drawing. The project for the year in this class was for the student to create his own plans for a house and then make a model or perspective drawing.

Seniors may elect a special vocational drawing course in which they spend three hours a day doing only machine drawing. When finished with this course, the boys are prepared to go out on the job and do practical work in industry.

Mr. Hamilton is the capable man responsible for teaching the students of drawing and blue-print reading.

OUR GROWING JOY

had a lot to do with getting along with people.

When we were little, we acted just the way we felt. We showed our feelings plainly: we sulked, we lost our tempers; we threw things, we cried, yelled and made faces at each other.

But as we grew up, we found out, sometimes the hard way, that we need to learn to work with people, to live with people. This meant that we must study the social conventions, practice good manners, and learn to control our emotions and actions.

Our clubs and school activities give us every opportunity to learn this most important lesson of all our lessons . . . how to get along with people.

... or learning good ones?

Encouraging good sportsmanship.

STUDENT COUNCIL . . .

The following officers who were elected for the year at the beginning of the first semester guided the organization throughout the year. Their final achievement was launching a drive to raise $2500, to finance two foreign students in our school next year.

Vice-President: Ralph Johnson

Secretary: Marla Platz

E.H.S. SELF-GOVERNING ORGANIZATION

Our Student Council is the organization in which we learn to govern ourselves and our fellow students. The Student Council has been very active this year. The council began the school year with their first project which was the Orientation Day program held for the incoming Sophomores a few days before school started. After the school year was under way, the Council was faced with finding a Student Council office; room 225 was decided upon. School supplies, such as pencils and papers, have been sold there most of the year.

The Council accomplished many purposes during this school year. A committee was appointed to revise the Handbook which was printed and given to the incoming Sophomores on May 5. This is the first time since 1946 that the Handbook has been revised. Other projects accomplished were: improving the conduct of students at the games and getting a reserved section for the senior high school students. The Council has also been interested in having more pep sessions; therefore, a pep session committee was appointed. All sessions were required to go through this committee before they took place. Another project was the two-week contest for the Blue Blazer emblem. The Council also held an all school party; Carolyn Peterson acted as chairman of the party committee.

TRIPLE-L CLUB

The Triple-L club, signifying loyalty, leadership and learning, started its '48-'49 meetings with a formal initiation of twenty-eight new members. Temporary officers presided at this meeting which was held in the high school cafeteria on September 13.

The following officers were elected at that meeting:

President: Nancy Whitt

Vice-President: Phyllis Adams

Secretary: Roberta Young

Treasurer: Shirley Kilmer

Social Chairman: Irene Dunfee

Parliamentarian: Barbara Shuler

The first big event of the year was the sponsoring of the semi-formal dance, "The Snow Ball," which was held in the Empire Room of Hotel Elkhart on December 4.

These officers guide the Triple-L activities.

Other activities of the club included the selling of concessions at a football game, keeping a sewing kit in the Dispensary filled and holding auctions for the lost and found articles.

The members of Triple-L concluded the year's activities with a Mother-Daughter Tea held on April 24. With the help of their sponsor, Miss Deal, the club has made a very successful year of 1949.

PAINT AND PALETTE CLUB

Another year has rolled around for the Paint and Palette. Getting off to a grand start, the club nominated officers at the first meeting on September 28. At the next meeting the following officers were elected:

President: Jackie Stover

Vice-President: Henry Pavoni

Secretary-Treasurer: Donna Wilburne

The members of the club, in order to be considered active, must earn 50 points during the year. These points may be earned by special projects; at the end of the year a pin is awarded the club members who have earned their 50 points.

To make the meetings more interesting, speakers were invited to talk to the club about advertising, art, photography, window display and other occupations which would be interesting to those in the field of art. Mr. Hal Bessmer, Mrs. Haselwood and Mr. H. Roush were guest speakers.

With the help of their sponsor, Mr. James, the art club has had a successful year.

THE GIRLS' LEAGUE

Although it is still a rather new organization, the Girls' League provides many opportunities for all the girls in high school. The varied program gives a chance to express their ideas, to show their ability, and to gain self-improvement.

The program this year consisted of an installation service, a panel discussion on personal problems, an outside speaker and a mother and daughter tea.

It was a project of the League this year to serve a faculty tea each month at the regular teachers' meeting. Girls, too, took turns in planning the refreshments, serving, and the receiving line. Also, something new which we hope will become a tradition, was a tea given at Christmas time for all the girls in last spring's graduating class who were home from college for the holidays.

A vocational conference was held early in the year. Representatives from several business schools and hospitals came to talk to all the girls interested in these fields.

The Advisory Council and the Executive Committee, planning boards for the League, met each month for their regular business meetings. In the fall, the Executive Committee was entertained at a tea, and the Advisory Council had a picnic supper.

Officers of the League this year were:

President: Phyllis Jennings
Vice-President: Martha Simons
Secretary-Treasurer: Melba Leege

Pat Banks, Martha Simons, Pat Dalrymple, Nancy Whitt and Eldonna Sellers each served as chairman for one of the League programs this year.

Miss Myngle Dorsett was sponsor of the organization this year as she was in the first year the League was organized in E. H. S.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

One of the important, hard-working, organizations in our school is the National Honor Society, sponsored by Miss Busche and Miss Broughton. The aim of the Honor Society is to develop loyalty, scholarship, leadership, and service in its members.

This group has participated in various activities this year including: a book sale in September, spaghetti suppers, College Day, and concessions at games.

The Richard D. Hiveley Scholarship offers $100 to one Honor Society student. Another member of Honor Society is financed to attend an International Relations Conference for high school students. This conference will be held this summer.

Officers for the first semester include:

Phil Smith	President
Ronald Walton	Vice-President
Dick Walton	Secretary
Kent Carlson	Treasurer

For the second semester they were:

Marvin Scott	President
Shirley Kilmer	Vice-President
Jane Stringfellow	Secretary
Ray Stutsman	Treasurer

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB

This year the Vocational Merchandising class organized as a club for the purpose of encouraging the principles of selling. This was the Distributive Education Club. The club was organized under the national constitution for the Distributive Education Clubs of the United States.

Regular club programs for the year consisted of talks by local retailers on the subjects of advertising and salesmanship. Other activities included concessions at one of the basketball games.

One of the highlights of the year was the state convention which was held at Indiana University on February 5. The delegates from Elkhart were Helen Sutterby, Carol Lantz, Mary Ann McGuffin, Joan Wogoman, George Klingaman, Gene Ihnken, George Weaver and Carol Swartz. Carol Lantz was elected state treasurer and attended the national convention which was held in Wichita, Kansas, in April.

Miss Kirkland served as sponsor of the club during the first semester. In the second semester, the sponsorship was taken over by a capable new teacher, Mr. Addison.

The officers for the first semester were: President, George Weaver; Vice-President, Doris Nickler; Secretary, Carol Swartz; Treasurer, Helen Sutterby; Social Chairman, Gene Ihnken.

The second semester officers were: President, George Lehman; Vice-President, Doris Nickler; Secretary, Carol Swartz; Treasurer, Helen Sutterby; Social Chairman, Gene Ihnken.

JUNIOR ACADEMY OF SCIENCE

The Junior Academy of Science has a motto "Go Places and See Things." This year the club has followed the motto both literally and figuratively.

By way of student projects the members "visited" in prehistoric times and "saw" the dinosaurs; "went" to Antarctica and studied weather conditions; "saw" conservation at work. Mrs. Shreiner took us on a "tour" through cancerous tissue, and Mr. V. V. Clark of the Bristol Fruit Hills let us "look" into weather conditions in 1970. He also talked to the club on "Apple Sauce."

Actual trips included the State Academy meeting at Indiana University, Senior field trip to Chicago, and two days of apple picking at Bristol Fruit Hills.

Officers for the year were:

Y-TEENS

The Y-Teens Club has had another successful year with a series of varied and interesting programs. These programs included talks on grooming, personality, and music.

One of the most outstanding events of the year was the annual Valentine dance, "The Sweetheart Swing," which was held on February 12. Other projects were informal dances, the Crippled Children's party, a bake sale, Christmas caroling, and a style show. A recognition ceremony was held on February 6, honoring thirty-five girls who had earned a minimum of fifteen points for service rendered to the club.

The meetings were held at the Y. W. C. A. every Thursday during the afternoon or evening. Mrs. William Frink served as Y-Teen Director for the year. Mrs. James Lytle was adviser.

HI-Y

To create, maintain and extend throughout the school and community high standards of character is the purpose of the Hi-Y.

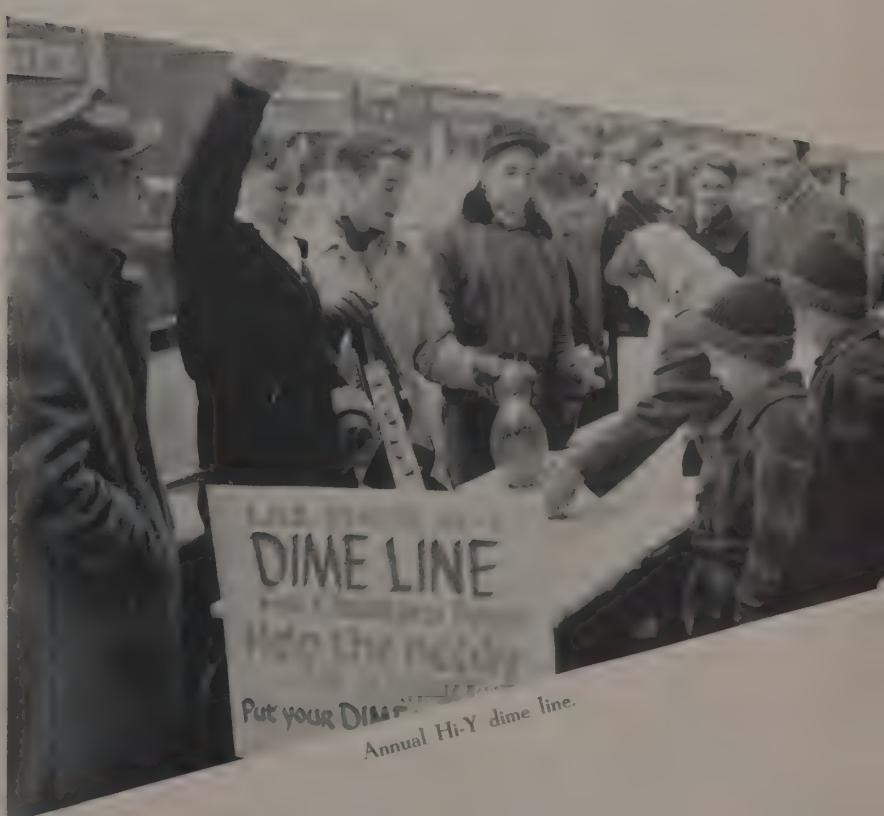

Along with some of the activities during the year, the Hi-Y sponsored a dime line, using the proceeds to send Christmas baskets to the needy in Elkhart.

With the help of the sponsors, Mr. Cooper and Mr. Tebbets and the Y-Teens, the club planned the Spring Conference. This conference held April 18 was the biggest event of the year. The theme of the conference was, "It's Your Life." All the Hi-Y clubs in District No. 2 were invited. The Y-Teens assisted in entertaining the guests.

Their club was also represented at two other conferences held at New Carlisle and Evansville.

Vocational Club boys line up for Mr. B.

VOCATIONAL CLUB

The Vocational Club was formed during the year 1947-48. Although the club is young, it does a great many things to help the young men of today prepare for tomorrow.

In order to understand the occupations in the industries, the club takes trips to factories and engages speakers to talk to the members about various occupations in the industrial field.

The club meets twice a month, although their work is completed in the shops.

Any student in E. H. S. is eligible for membership in the Vocational Club providing he is on a vocational education course.

The purposes of the club are: To prepare these students as much as possible for employment after graduation; to learn more about various industries; to learn what is expected of them in their work.

The officers for the year were: President, Max Boyer; Vice-President, Marion Scott; Secretary, Bill Bergstrom; Treasurer, Tom Ball.

AUDIO-VISUAL EDUCATION CLUB

Mr. Felmlee's A-V boys are the Audio-Visual Education Club, consisting of twelve seniors and fifteen juniors. No doubt, this home room is the hardest working home room in E. H. S. These boys aren't preparing for some "ultimate goal" but are now working hard and proving themselves honest and trustworthy.

Now for a glimpse into what "working" is. A-V means "education by seeing and hearing." Of course, this means mainly films. The boys take care of an average of five films a day. These twenty-seven boys are responsible for all the films which come to the Elkhart schools. They run the still projectors, motion picture projectors, slide projectors, opaque lantern, wire recorder, disc recorder, phonoplay backs and take care of a public address system.

The officers for the year were: President, John Beckett; Vice-President, Mac Boyer; Secretary, Richard Green; Treasurer, Charles Troyer; Film Recorder, Dick Lytle; Film

DOCS CLUB

The Docs Club is a fairly new addition to E. H. S. which is now in the second year of its existence. It was organized for the purpose of being a school service club.

The club has rendered services by running a concession stand during the football season on the visitors side, by chartering buses for out-of-town games, by donating funds and other worthwhile activities.

The Docs, however, is not entirely a service club but also a social organization. Some of the parties they held are: a Halloween party which was held at Fish Lake; a trip to Ball State College where they saw the Ball State vs. Manchester football game; and a roller-skating party which was held at Mishawaka. The Informal Initiation was held this year at McNaughton Park, a very momentous occasion to the new Docs members.

The old members took formal initiation at the YMCA on November 21.

The meaning of the word Docs is: D for Dependability, O for Obedience, C for Character, S for Scholarship.

The officers for the first semester were: President, Bryce Bressler; Vice-President, Richard Holly; Secretary, Fred Robinson; Treasurer, Everett Cox.

The officers for the second semester were: President, Pete Wilson; Vice-President, Fred Robinson; Secretary, Bryce Bressler; Treasurer, Richard Holly.

The sponsorship of the club was under four capable teachers. They were: Mr. Donald Winne, Mr. Claude Reith, Mr. William Wollenweber and Mr. Howard James.

USHERS' CLUB

The Ushers' Club is one of the most industrious clubs in the school. This club consists of twelve members who meet every Wednesday after school with their sponsor, Mr. Updike, to make definite plans for their activities.

The duties of the club include ushering at all basketball and football games. In addition, the club members maintain a check room service for basketball games and special events, such as Senior Day and All School parties. This year the members also ushered at two independent games which were held in the high school gym.

Service awards given are white circular chenille emblems bearing the club's insignia, which the boys wear on navy blue sweaters. Additional services are indicated by chevrons worn on the left sleeve.

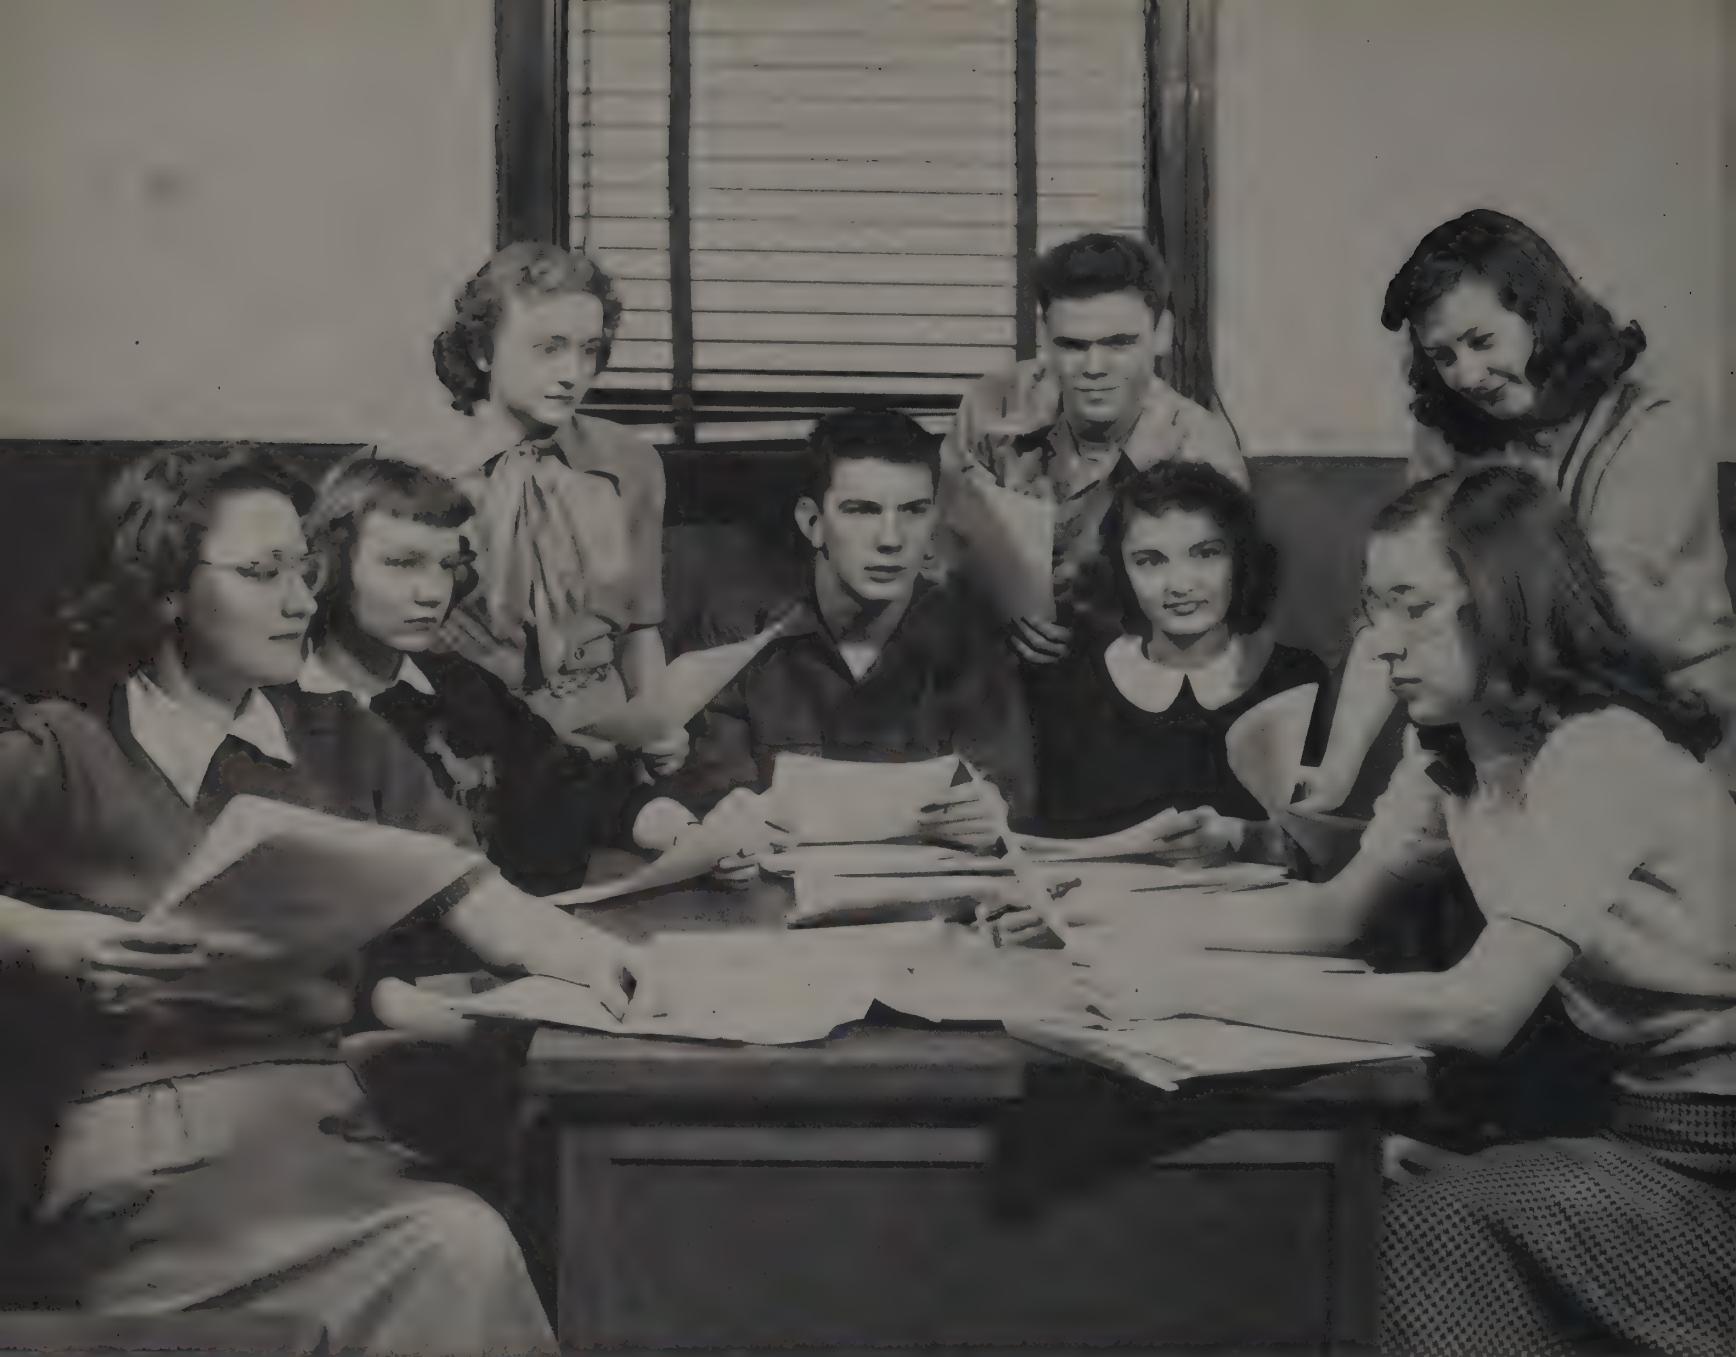

Officers for the year were: President, David Court; Vice-President, Dick Simmons; Secretary-Treasurer, Clarence McLane.

THE THRESHOLD STAFF

Because printing difficulties prevented the publication of the Christmas issue of the Threshold, a "bigger and better" issue was compiled in the spring. The pages of the book were printed in two columns and a photographic cover was used. Short stories, essays, poems, humor and a feature section on seniors made up the contents.

Material for the magazine was written by English students and collected by the staff with the help of eleven English teachers.

This year, for the first time, the editorial staff, headed by Catherine Leege, was divided into two groups; these groups worked the second and third hours. The staff also decided to do the work of a business and sales staff.

The second hour staff included: Mollie Jo Smith, Doreen Replogle, Jim Flora, Marian Russell, Jerry Owens, Catherine Leege; the third hour staff were: Sharon Sheets, Joan Lloyd, Marjorie Broadbent and Tom Reid.

THE PENNANT WEEKLY

Because of the limited amount of paper allotted for use, The Pennant Weekly was again published on a bi-monthly basis.

This year, for the first time, the Pennant Weekly has been printed by the high school print shop with the able help of Mr. Grover Mishler and Mr. Claude Rieth, and the nineteen issues have been published, including the junior and senior editions, a special Christmas issue and "The Peanut Weekly" which came out April 1.

THE PENNANT ANNUAL

In October seniors interested in the Annual staff signed application blanks which were approved by a faculty committee consisting of the class sponsors and the publication adviser. The following were chosen: editors, Jackie Stover and Pat Haselwood; senior panels, Sarah Thornton; activities, Nancy Stahr; underclass panels, Pat Haselwood. The business managers for the book were Bruce Doering and Ed Buckley. Jim Merchant was sports editor with Dave Cavanagh as his assistant and Barbara Bailey was ad manager.

As a theme for the '49 yearbook, the staff chose "Growing Up in Elkhart." Each section is introduced by a contrast picture which shows grade or junior high and high school activities. The opening section illustrates this theme photographically. Pictures were taken at Rice, Hawthorne, Samuel Strong and Roosevelt. The end sheets picture our school and the ad section, our town as seen from the air. The book of 200 pages was bound in a blue and grey cover.

The following committees were chosen: senior panels, Helen Dally, chairman, Carolyn Peterson, Nancy Campbell, Marlene Huggins and Jo-Anne Moderau; activities, Jane Stringfellow, chairman, Jane Rosenburger, Jane Richardson, Jean Tappero, Jane Niles; under-class, Betty Embry, chairman, Teresa Unger, Alice Smith, Ardith Ward and Alice Hettsmanburger; vocal music, Terry Smith; instrumental music, Pat O'Donnell and Ray Stutsman; drama, Donna Wilborne and Dorothy Lorenz; advertising, Becky Romberger, Gordon Bisel, Norma Ehret, Ronald Walton, Pat Richter, Rosemarie Reiner, Pat Lemmon, Howard Hostetler, Pat Banks, Dick Bales, Dick Stackhouse, Ed Buckley and Bruce Doering. Those in charge of sports were: David Cavanagh, football; Don Reibs, basketball; Stanley Smith, track and cross country; Jim Merchant, baseball; Phil Smith, tennis.

In building the book, the staff wishes to acknowledge our debt to: Mrs. Haselwood (our friend Irma), Mr. Ford Yoder, Wilbur Losee and Mr. Felmlee. All of these took pictures, giving us much extra time and work. We appreciate the many favors of the office girls and faculty members. We also wish to thank the grade school kids and teachers, as well as those in junior high, who acted as "models." Then, too, we are grateful for the patient help of Mr. R. R. Benson, and Mr. F. N. Noer of the Indianapolis Engraving Company and Mr. Ed de Beaumont, of the Fort Wayne Type-setting Company.

SENIOR CLASS PLAY

The senior class play, "Arsenic and Old Lace," by Joseph Kesselring, was presented on Friday, November 5, 1949, under the direction of Miss G. Christine Hughes.

The Brewster sisters serve a "pick-me-up".

Carolyn Blough and Donna Farr were cast as the mentally unbalanced Brewster aunties, Martha and Abbey, who spent their declining years doing charitable deeds. Out of the kindness of their hearts they helped old men from the misery of lonely old age to the peace of the grave by their special pick-me-up concoction of elderberry wine, arsenic and just a little touch of cyanide. Teddy, played by Terry Smith, who thought he was Theodore Roosevelt and acted the part, spent most of his time burying his sisters' victims in the Panama Canal in the basement. Into this quiet atmosphere came their nephew, Jonathan (Bill Bugh), who played the part of an insane killer seeking a hideout. His helper was Dr. Einstein (Ronald Everts), who was always lifting Jonathan's face by plastic surgery. Mortimer Brewster, played by Ronald Walton, was the only sane character; he tried to oust Jonathan from the house when he discovered from a corpse in the window seat what the aunts were doing.

Others cast in the play were Jane Niles as Elaine, Kent Paulson as the minister, Phil Smith, David Court and Stuart Taylor as policemen, Joe Beckman as the would-be roomer, David Court as the police sergeant and Bill Nye as the head of Happydale Sanitarium.

The cast steps up to fame.

The entire cast takes a bow.

JUNIOR CLASS PLAY

A three-act comedy was presented Friday, March 11, 1949, by the Junior Class, entitled "George Washington Slept Here." The play was directed by Miss Christine Hughes.

The story begins when Newton Fuller buys a windowless, waterless and almost roofless house on the countryside in Pennsylvania. His wife, Anna-belle, doesn't like the idea, but their daughter, Madge, is very excited about their new house. Trouble starts: no water, rebellious servants and a cantankerous neighbor who owns the water supply and the road that leads to the house from the highway; a supposedly well-to-do uncle comes to pay a visit, but all turns out well in the end.

The principal parts were played by: Nancy De-Shone, Martin Stover, Bryce Bressler, Jackie Bushong and Bill Anderson. Other parts were taken by: Cleo Sailor, Dirck Meengs, Marleis Douglas, Beverly Hoot, Ruth Nadonly, Barry Bedenkop, Dick Lytle, Lee Paulson, Jerry Williams, Diane Swendeman, Eldonna Sellers and Louis Hemmers.

The program covers were designed by Roger Lee Mollenhour.

The class sponsors are: Mrs. Ada Sickels and Mr. Riley Jordan.

JUNIOR FOLLIES

"Family Album" was the theme of the Junior Follies staged on November 19, 1948. For the first time the Class of 1950 was given an opportunity to present to the school and the public the unusual talents possessed by its members.

As Dirck Meengs and Jackie Bushong, in authentic costumes of the 20's, turned the pages of the family album, the pictures in the book came to life in sixteen acts. Vocal solos, duets, trios, and a quartette; a marimba solo, baton twirling, a piano duet, and a band; a square dance of the Civil War period; a bejeweled Maharajah with his dancing maidens, and inevitable chorus line of lovelies; low and high comedy acts, and an unforgettable "rendering" of "Casey at the Bat"; the serious, rhyming confessions of the two family black sheep, who were not allowed in the album—these were the proud offerings of the Junior Follies.

WIG AND CUE AND THESPIANS

The Wig and Cue Dramatic Club of Elkhart High School was first organized in the school year 1943-44 by Miss Ruth Agnew and students interested in dramatics. Since then the club has grown to a membership of forty-two students. Miss G. Christine Hughes is now the sponsor of the club and the officers for this year were: President, Joan Vogt; Vice-President, Ronald Everts; Secretary, Joan Neu; Treasurer, Marlies Douglas; Girls' Social Chairman, Pat Richter; Boys' Social Chairman, Ronald Walton.

In order to become a member of Wig and Cue, a boy or girl must learn and interpret twenty lines of Shakespeare in a way that is acceptable to a group of judges composed of the officers of the National Thespian Organization.

The purpose of Wig and Cue Dramatic Club is to furnish opportunity for the advancement of individual dramatic talent and of dramatic arts in Elkhart High School.

The purpose of the Thespian Club, which is Troupe No. 653 of the National Thespian Society, is "to create a spirit of active and intelligent interest in dramatics among boys and girls of secondary schools."

The Thespians supervise the activities of the Wig and Cue and help with dramatic productions at E. H. S.

They also held a banquet on May 18 at the Hotel Elkhart, at which they received twenty new members.

This year several Thespian members went to Canterbury College for a speech arts conference and saw performances of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta "Trial By Jury" and Edward Chodrov's "Kind Lady." In March, a group saw the Mishawaka junior class play entitled "Cuckoos On The Hearth."

The officers for the year were:

President: Ronald Walton

Vice-President: John Thomas

Secretary: Virginia Thulis

Treasurer: Ruth Nadonly

MUSIC IN E.H.S.

One of the most active departments in our school is the music department. They are not only busy with their regular classes, concerts and rehearsals but they are also kept busy taking part in the community activities. Whether they are performing for a local club, welcoming a presidential candidate, or marching in the Easter Parade, our musicians are always prepared to give a fine show.

Mr. J. Frederick Muller came to Elkhart from Summit, New Jersey after fifteen years of public school teaching. Mr. Muller has had a very successful year being well received by both the school and community.

Assisting Mr. Muller in all of the instrumental music work and training grade and junior high school musicians for their futures in the high school band and orchestra are: Miss Betty Elmquist, Mr. Fred C. Myers, and Mr. Howard Kilbert.

One achievement this year for the junior high groups was the purchase of uniforms. P. T. A. and the Music Parents' Club helped to raise funds for these uniforms.

Mr. Gowdy, head of the vocal music department, gives two public concerts each year as well as presenting his group in many school and civic programs. In addition, he teaches the course in Music Appreciation.

The symphonic band and the symphony orchestra presented four major concerts in the Elkhart High School Auditorium. The dates of these concerts were: The Welcome Concert, Friday, December 10, 1948; Tribute to Democracy, Friday, February 4, 1949; Say It With Music, Friday, March 27, 1949; The Senior Concert, Friday, May 27, 1949.

THE ELKHART HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. J. Frederick Muller's first year as director of the Elkhart High School Band has been very successful. The marching band not only played at all the football games, but also marched to the railroad station three times: to meet President Truman, the G. O. P. candidate, Thomas E. Dewey, and the French gratitude train. The marching band's program is in the hands of Mr. Muller and the Associate Directors, Mr. Fred Myers and Mr. Howard Kilbert.

The band gave additional parade performances this year when they participated in the Horace Heidt welcome parade and the Memorial Day celebration.

Besides the four regular concerts, the symphonic band gave thirty-minute concerts for the following organizations: the Boy Scouts and the Sunday Evening Club on November 21 and March 15.

This year individual members of the musical organizations in Elkhart schools entered in State, District and Local Solo and Ensemble Contests. To enter the District Contest held at Fort Wayne on February 19, 1949, each soloist and ensemble had to place in the first division during the Local Contests which were held at Elkhart High School on January 31, 1949. To enter the State Contest held at Indianapolis on March 26, 1949, all contestants were required to place in the first division at the District Contests.

Throughout the year the soloists and small ensembles gave performances for many social and church organizations.

In October, the band elected the following officers: President, Rodney Rockwell; Vice-President, Ralph Cortas; Secretary, Kay Armstrong; Treasurer, Raymond Stutsman; Girls' Social Chairman, Jerry Dick; Boys' Social Chairman, John Shultz.

On an audition basis, Student Director Ralph Cortas and Assistant Student Director Charles French won the highest honors and served the Band well.

THE ELKHART HIGH

The activities of the orchestra were numerous during this year. Four regular concerts in cooperation with the band were presented. On October 26, they appeared on a Your Schools Broadcast. Also during this month, about forty students passed auditions to play for the Northern Central Teachers' Convention in South Bend.

On December 17, they assisted the Choir in the Annual Christmas Concert. A concert was given for the Sunday Evening Club on January 16, and on March 23, a Music Appreciation Concert was presented to grade school children.

On April 23, seventeen members of the string section traveled to Manchester to play with the College Orchestra. On May 5 and 6, a trip was made to Indiana State Teachers' College at Terre Haute, Indiana. During the two days they gave concerts for school and college students. Soloists during the year were: Kay Armstrong, Phyllis Heeter, Roberta Young, Joan Neu, Ralph Cortas, and Joan White.

February 19, a district contest was held in Fort Wayne. Those students winning first place went to Indianapolis on March 26, to participate in an all-state contest. This is the first time that an all-

THE ELKHART HIGH

No plainer proof of the interest that choral music has built up during the past year could be furnished than the fact that it was found necessary to divide the choir into three groups: the A Cappella Choir, the Mixed Chorus and the Girls' Chorus. Mr. William Gowdy, recently promoted to the chairmanship of the Music Department, displayed a talent for organization, as well as music, in keeping the three groups constructively busy.

The 1948-49 season of the choir will be remembered for the number of fine performances given during this time. As in previous years, the opener was the choir's participation in the South Bend Music Festival, October 21, under the direction of Maynard Klein, choral director at the University of Michigan. This was followed in rapid succession by a "Your Schools" broadcast on November 23, an appreciation concert on December 14, and the Christmas Concert on the 17th. The finale of the Christmas Concert centered around a singing Christmas tree.

CHOOL CHOIRS

Following the Christmas vacation the season opened with an appearance before the Sunday Evening Club on February 13; the second big event was the choir's attendance at a choral festival March 25th at LaPorte, directed by Noble Cain. A junior-senior high choral festival was held on April 1st. The Easter Auditorium program, featuring Joseph W. Clokey's cantata "For He Is Risen," was presented on April 14. The year's climax, the Spring Concert, was held on May 12.

The choir once again brought home honors this year from the state solo and ensemble contest. First division soloists were: Gay Smith, Nancy Slinkard, Lois Hemmers, Colleen Roe, and Darrell Noles. Marilyn Robertson, Colleen Roe, Larry Clem and Darrell Noles won first division in ensembles.

Social life was not neglected by the choir this year. The choir's annual Christmas Sing and party was held on December 25; the choir banquet, May 20. This was a proud occasion for all those winning letters or titles from the hand of toastmaster Darrell Noles.

The choirs' final appearance was the Baccalaureate services on June 5. This performance wrote finis to a year of choral music that E. H. S. will long remember.

from dolls and roller skates, games of catch and hopscotch, through the tree-house and cave-stages into organized teams at school. Elkhart is a basketball town, like most Indiana towns, so our grade school boys start playing basketball early. The girls take their place as the inspiration for these competitive sports, cheering wildly from the sidelines.

By the time we are in high school, the high spot in most of our weekends is the football or basketball game, or the track meets in spring. And among our most ardent fans are the grown-ups of the town, who follow the blue and white teams season after season.

ATHLETIC AIDES

The Cheering Squad, coached by Miss Kendall, did an unusually fine job of keeping up the school morale this year. The girls invented several new twists and adaptations of songs and yells, and at the games they were alert, keeping the student body back of the boys all the time.

Among the duties of the cheering squad was the once-a-week training of the prospects for the next year's cheerleaders.

The athletic managers are responsible for the care of the equipment, the preparation of players for games, the care of minor injuries, the checking in and out of supplies, and the record of the players' quarters played, and act as general stooges for whatever the coaches and players need.

Underclass managers are trained by senior managers and "promoted" into senior positions as the grads leave. Two boys are in training for each sport.

THE PHYSICAL EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Not enough can be said to express the importance of the coaching staff of E. H. S. Very few schools are as fortunate as Elkhart, for we have one of the best lineups of coaches in Indiana. The main purpose of the Physical Education Department is to build up the bodies and the health of the students from the youngest in the grades up to the seniors in high school. The fact that our physical education program runs so smoothly is due to the efficiency and the endless work of these fine men.

The instructors for the grades are John Deiber and Grover Whitehead; Lorin Evans and Matt Ronzone are the coaches for the freshmen. The high school coaches are Glenn Silcott, Tony Campagnoli, and Matt Ronzone who instruct football while Bill Milliner and Bob Ehrt coach basketball. Mr. Ehrt is also the head coach for baseball. Chelse Boone does the coaching in the track and cross country fields and Raymond Sorenson coaches tennis.

In the midst of dissatisfaction from the fact that tickets are too few to go around, Mr. Glenn Updike continues the tedious job of fairly distributing tickets to all sports fans. Mr. Updike deserves a large amount of credit for performing this task.

After tying their first game of the season with Fort Wayne North Side, 13 to 13, the Blazer squad caused a lot of talk as to what the team might shape up to this year. But, at the end of the season the small but mighty squad, under the excellent training of Coach Silcott finished fourth in the conference, winning five, losing two and tying two.

The season's record was the best since 1942 and it is the first time since 1938 that the Blazers were undefeated on their home field.

The fans unanimously decided that the game of the year was the thrilling battle against Fort Wayne South Side. Elkhart, the underdog, defeated the large Fort Wayne team which gave F. W. their only loss for the year.

Row One: Coach M. Ronzone, C. Schrock, M. Scott, D. Stackhouse, H. Hostetler, J. Davis, Coach G. Silcott, O. Mato, B. Becht, G. Owens, J. Bozzutto, B. Paulson, D. Tait, Coach T. Campagnoli.

THE 1948 SEASON

At the second game of the year the Blazers were host to Senn High School of Chicago. After Senn had edged ahead in the first half, Howard "X" Hostetler went over for the Blazers' first touchdown. The Silcott-men came back from out of the fieldhouse with a new spirit. They gave out with a powerful second half with Dick Stackhouse, John Davis and Dick Tait donating three touchdowns for the boys in blue. Pat Montagano, extra point kicker, added two points to the score which made the final tally E. H. S. 26 and Senn 19.

After the outstanding showing against the strong Chicago team, the Elkhart fans had great expectations for the small but mighty E. H. S. team. The following Friday the boys were enthused in breaking the Michigan City jinx. The Blazers didn't look so good in the first half. The Red Devils scored thirteen points, the Elkhart's none. But in the second period quarterback Davis hurled one of his famous passes to Tait. This score was followed by two quick TD's by Stackhouse and Hostetler. This tied up the game and soon after the tie was made, the gun bellowed and the score was 20-20.

The Blazers hit the road to face the mighty LaPorte Slicers. No score was accomplished until in the last quarter when Johnny Davis plunged over LaPorte's four yard line. Immediately after this TD the Slicers went over Elkhart's terra firma for six counters. Both extra points were made and the two teams were all tied up. Johnny Davis again plowed into pay dirt and Montagano booted one for the extra conversion. As the gun sounded the Slicers were threatening the Blazers on their one yard line. The final score was Elkhart 14 and LaPorte 7.

Silcott's boys faced their first defeat when they battled with Riley of South Bend. The first quarter was scoreless but in the second Riley pushed the pigskin across to take a seven to nothing lead at half time. In the third Davis hit paydirt for Elkhart's only score of the game. Also in the third period Riley tallied another six points. This total was the final score, 13 to 6.

The next two games were with Mishawaka and Fort Wayne South. Elkhart ran over both of these teams although, as usual, they were expected to be beaten by both teams but Mishawaka, a highly touted team, didn't fulfill its past promises. These scores were Elkhart 19, Mishawaka 6, and Fort Wayne South Side 14, Elkhart 27.

The last home game of the year was with Goshen. No matter how much of an underdog one team is this game is always a thrilling spectacle to see. Although Goshen was predicted to lose by a large margin, they put up a battle that compared to college football. Neither team scored in the first half. In the third quarter Goshen caught the Blazers behind their own goal line which resulted in a safety for Goshen. Neither team scored for another lapse of time, until in the last minute of the fourth quarter when things looked dark for the Blazers, Hostetler carried the meat across the chalk line to make the final score, Elkhart 6, Goshen 2.

The final game of the season was a real letdown to the Blazers and all of their ardent fans. This game was with South Bend Washington, and it was the game that decided whether the hard fighting E. H. S. midgets would place second or fourth in the conference. The Panthers held the Blazers scoreless in the first half while they had six counters. In the first few minutes of the second half, Stackhouse plowed over for a valuable six points. In the last moments of a tied up game the Panthers pulled in a sudden TD and the game ended. The final score was South Bend Washington 12, Elkhart 6.

On the whole, the season had better results than were expected. The backfield was predicted to be one of the best in the conference and the result of this prediction was definitely true. The line was a completely different situation. The only returning letterman of the line, Marvin Scott, was disqualified from the Blazer lineup because of illness. This left Coach Silcott with no lettermen for the line. But the rookies did all right. Maybe it was spirit; maybe it was their optimistic outlook, but no matter what it was, our boys pulled through and they deserve much praise.

THE 1948-49 BLAZER BASKETBALL SEASON . . .

This year, Elkhart High welcomed a new coach to take over the job held for nearly two decades by John Longfellow, now head basketball coach at Indiana State College. The new coach, Bill Milliner, did a fine job of assuming the tremendous task of keeping up the basketball tradition here at E. H. S. Although the win-loss total was far from the par of previous years, the boys worked hard on the big job of changing their style from a slow, deliberate, set-play game to a fast-break technique.

The Blazers dropped quite a few close ones this year but with the "B" team's fine record, they show great promise of a good season for next year.

Coach Milliner worked several sophomores into varsity positions. He built up his squad which had only one letterman to start with. This player was John Davis, who had had two years on the varsity.

The Blue Blazers opened the season with a 38-34 win over the Jimtown Jimmies as Stackhouse scored twelve points. In our next game which was with Bristol, Pindell scored eleven points as the Pirates gave us a scare before going down 34-28.

With our first loss of the season, which was to Gary Emerson 37-30, we also lost high-scorer, Joe Pindell because of a badly sprained ankle. Elkhart dropped its second game in four starts to Warsaw, 32-29.

In our first of two games with Goshen, the Blazer fans were slightly downhearted throughout the entire game until in the last few seconds, when Stackhouse broke the deadlock with a controversial marker, causing Elkhart to win 38-36.

In the next game, juniors, Pete Davis and Roger Walters with nine and eight points respectively, led the Blazers to defeat Toledo Waite 57-35.

VARSITY GAMES

After taking four out of six games the Blazers slumped into one of the worst "doldrums" they have seen in several years. The first game that started the Blazers on their downhill ride was the battle with Washington of South Bend. The E. H. S. five bowed to the "Panthers" with the score of 42-35. Sophomore Bobby Cappelletti scored thirteen points for top honors in this game.

The losing streak continued through the next six games. The next game which was with LaPorte, proved to be another fatal stroke to the struggling Milliner boys. The Slicers cut the Blazers short with a score of 43-34. The following week the Michigan City five threw Elkhart for another loss with the final score of 54-54. Milliner and his boys hit the road to face the undefeated Auburn team. The Blazers failed once again as the Red Devils slaughtered us 53-35. Mishawaka, the conference co-champs, thrashed the downhearted E. H. S. team by the margin of 23 points. The score was 44-21. The last two games in the "Elkhart Curse" were with South Bend Riley and Fort Wayne North Side. The scores were, 46-39 and 52-44, respectively.

Pulling out of their slump, the Blazers poured all of their power on Nappanee to keep a thirteen year intact record with the Bulldogs. With Pindell scoring 13 and Tait and Stackhouse 12, they defeated the Bulldogs, 58-52.

The Blazer fans had great hopes for the next game even though it was with the State Finalists, South Bend Central. Although the Blazers showed a good fight in the first half, the Bears pulled away for a 48-26 win.

On a return match with Goshen, in a conference duel, the boys in blue caught fire in the second quarter to massacre the Redskins for the sixteenth straight time. This score was victorious by a pleasing 4 point margin, 37-33.

The Blazers ended the season with a better all-round team with more fire and class than at any time before in the past games of the season. Although the Blazers looked great against South Bend John Adams, the Truex twins proved to be too much in spite of the great rally. The Blue and White lost their last game 54-52.

For the first time in four years, Elkhart High's Blue Blazers entered the sectionals as a definite underdog. Elkhart's boys were matched against a strong New Paris team. The Blazers were without the service of high scoring Dick Stackhouse, who injured his ankle in practice. The Cubs avenged last year's 50-51 trimming by a score of 33-17. Milliner's boys scored only six points while holding county high scorer Bill Smoker to only four points.

Despite the fact that the basketball season was a definite letdown compared with our past records, neither the players nor fans gave up for even a moment. The boys were always smiling even though they knew they were in for a sure defeat. When the Blazers would walk off of the hardwood floor defeated—again and again, not one student would leave until the good ol' school fight song was completed. Things like this are what keeps a school going. We are proud of both our team and school spirit in the basketball season of '49.

THE BLAZER "B" SQUAD

The "B" Squad, which has had an excellent record this past year, should result in an improved varsity line-up next year. Under the fine coaching of Bob Ehrtsam, the junior Blazers won 12 out of 16 games in the conference openers, and placed second in the second team conference rating.

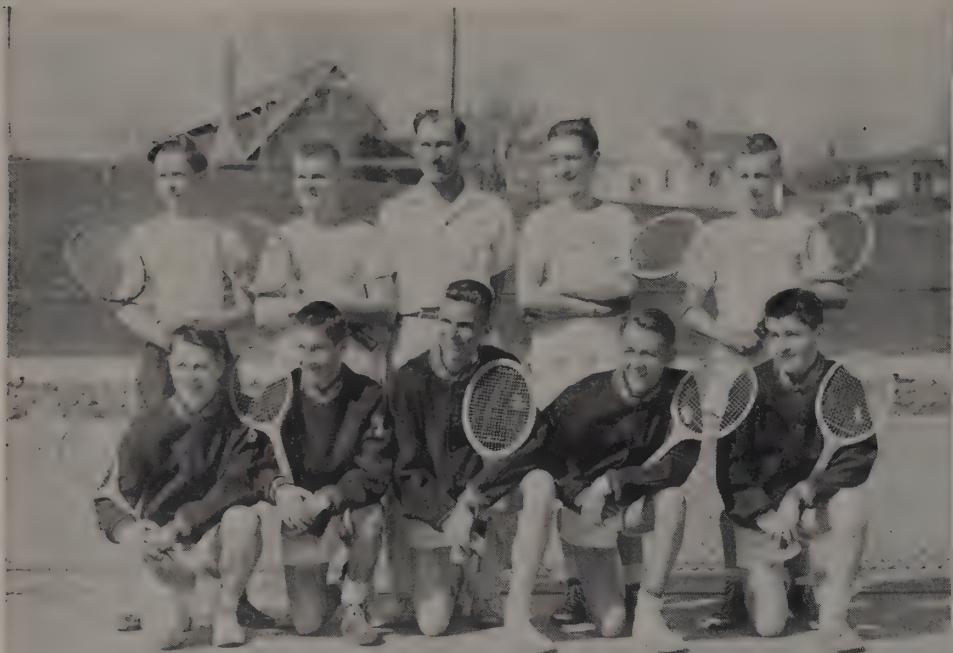

In a squad made up almost entirely of sophs, one junior, Jim Troup, turned in several fine performances. Along with Ralph Kauffman, Doug Grant and Jim Everts, Troup was a main spark. Three very tall boys, Bob Cripe, Paul Likins and Jim Ringos, covered the center position, alternating. Several other underclassmen showed promise for the coming year.

THE E. H. S. TENNIS TEAM

The E. H. S. tennis squad, with Coach Hap Sorenson, made a fine showing this year, considering the fact that they didn't have any returning lettermen. It was an inexperienced team that really worked hard, trying to maintain the fine tradition of championship teams which Hap has established for all E. H. S. tennis squads.

The netmen started their season on Sept. 4 by traveling to North Side of Fort Wayne, and bringing back their first victory in a fairly easy match, 5-0. The Blazers were then host to the Goshen Redskins, and added another victory to their list. Score 5-0. Mishawaka was the next stop, in a match that ran through two days and ended with a 2-3 score, Elkhart on the bottom.

On Sept. 21, the LaPorte squad gave the Blazers another victory, by a 4-1 score. On Sept. 28, the racketeers were the guests of their old rivals, Central of South Bend. This was another two-day match, with

E. H. S. coming out on the short end of a 2-3 score. The following matches showed the E. H. S. team victorious: Michigan City, 4-1; Riley, 5-0; Adams, 4-1.

The season ended with a commendable record of 6 wins and 2 losses. The netmen placed third in the NIHSC conference standings. Individual records were as follows: Capt. Phil Smith, 13 wins-2 losses; Meengs, 12 wins-1 loss; Kauffman, 4 wins-5 losses; Shuler, 6 wins-3 losses. Jim Konrad and John Davenport saw action in doubles play. Six men won varsity letters.

In the spring the tennis team plays a number of practice games, mainly to keep in shape for the fall conference matches. The spring schedule:

April 12—Fort Wayne, here	May 10—Niles, here

THE E. H. S. TRACK TEAM

Elkhart opened its unusually tough track season with an annual quadrangular meet at Notre Dame, and finished third, as expected. Elkhart's Gene Hany set a new all-time E. H. S. mile record for both indoor and outdoor meets by touring the distance in 4:36.3, nearly four seconds faster than the old record.

Bill Nye turned in the biggest upset of the day when he nosed out LaPorte's Zook in the excellent time of 2:04.5 for the half mile. Windy Culp, who won the 440 in 54.6 seconds, looks like a good bet to continue Rog Phillips' dominance of the 440.

On the following Saturday at Notre Dame, Elkhart showed unexpected strength by placing third in the East NIHS conference indoor meet. Hany again won the mile easily and Culp won the 440. Nye won the second heat of the 880 to give Elkhart valuable points.

The first dual meet of the season was held at Goshen where Elkhart came off with a two-point victory, 55-53.

Elkhart pulled one of the big upsets of the year when the Boonemen whipped the outstanding team from North Side of Fort Wayne, 58 to 51. This victory was accomplished by the scoring of smashing wins in both relays. As a promise to future teams, more than half of Elkhart's points in individual events were scored by sophomores.

The Blazers were handed their first defeat of the season by the Archers of South Side, 67-42. Weakness in the relays and the field events spelled defeat for E. H. S. Hany and Schrock were on the sideline with injuries, although Schrock competed in the mile relay.

Captain Dick Stackhouse ran for the first time this year and came off with a first in the low hurdles.

Hampered by injuries to key men, Elkhart hopes to make a good showing in the sectionals and the state meets. The schedule for this year is as follows:

April 7—Fort Wayne, North Side, here.

April 12—Fort Wayne, South Side, here.

April 23—Goshen, there.

April 26—Goshen, here.

May 3—Mishawaka, there.

THE E. H. S. BASEBALL TEAM

When Coach Ehrsam issued the call for baseball this spring about forty boys showed up for practice, among them six lettermen. These returning players were: Dick Talbott, Dick Walton, Joe Pindell, John Davis, Larry Abel, Rollie Cook and Delvin Landis. With this line-up of candidates and experienced boys, the prospects for the '49 season look good.

The only boys missing from last year's squad are the graduates, Lambdin, Campbell, Gordon and Hostettler. Eight games were scheduled for the weeks following spring vacation, as follows:

CROSS COUNTRY SQUAD

A strong cross country team led by Captain Gene Hany came through with a good record of 7 wins and 4 losses at the end of the fall season, the usual good showing made by Coach Boone's harriers.

Captain Hany led the team all year with the able assistance of Donald Jessup, Rollie Cook, Walter Gildner, Larrie Kirbie, Glen Douglas, William Nye and Wendell Culp. All of the preceding boys were major letter winners and all but one are seniors. Captain Hany was high point man, and also turned in a fine performance, running two miles in 10:03.

Out of nine teams, Chelse's finished fifth in the conference. In the last conference meet of the season, LaPorte edged out Elkhart, 27 to 28, with a thrilling duel being staged by Elkhart's Hany and LaPorte's Zook. Zook staved off a final drive by Hany and LaPorte won the meet. This loss was typical of all the Boonemen's defeats; they are never defeated by more than one or two points.

In the sectional meet, the Boonemen placed third. Gene Hany was Elkhart's representative in the state cross country held at Indianapolis. Although hampered by a bad leg, Hany overtook 38 boys in the last one and one-half miles, to finish a respectable twelfth. Hany was also named as all-sectional and all-conference.

Managers for this year's team were Lee Paulson, Bill Bergstrom, Dick Bresslar, and Vic Voras.

Because he had the best record of the underclassmen, Walt Gildner will captain next year's team.

GIRLS' SPORTS

Frances Neterer, Kay Jessup, Norma Ehret, Margaret Pettifer, Miss Kendall and Mary Carusillo look over "Sportingly Yours."

An important part of "Growing Up in Elkhart" is learning how to play. The Girls' Athletic Association, under the sponsorship of Miss Mary Kendall, provides time and healthful recreation on this basis.

The activities for this year included a trip to the state G. A. A. camp at Pokagon State Park in October, numerous inter-school basketball and volleyball games, a "play day" in January, and the awards assembly at the end of the year.

The G. A. A. holds its council meetings on the first and third Tuesdays of each month during home room and carries on the athletic events after school at 3:50.

The officers for the year are as follows:

President: Norma Ehret

Vice-President: Kay Jessup

Corresponding Secretary: Margaret Pettifer

Recording Secretary: Mary Carusillo

Treasurer: Frances Neterer.

The G. A. A. girls play a fast game of basketball.

Exercise keeps these girls fit.

E for Elkhart, energy, and exercise.

CLASSES AND ADMINISTRATION

GROWING UP IN COLLEGE

We come in as scared little sophs, worried by all the rumors we have heard, feeling lost and bewildered. But soon we learn to think of our faculty as friends, our counsellors as guides and our administrators as people concerned about what is best for us.

Soon we know our way around and begin to know the thrill of all that goes in a big modern school. We move into the exciting events of the junior year, and before we know it, our twelve years of school ~~are at an end~~ and we are graduating. At last we have come into our own.

SUPERINTENDENT H. H. CHURCH

ADMINISTRATION

The man responsible for many of our school improvements is Dr. H. H. Church, superintendent of schools. With the help of the school board, he plans new and better ways to improve and modernize our schools.

Among this year's achievements is the building of the Mary Daly school. This is the first of the building necessary to take care of our city's rapidly growing school enrollment. Dr. Church's most outstanding project during the past year was his work on the Indiana Study Commission, a survey of all schools in the state.

The Board of School Trustees consists of J. L. Ullery, president; Vernon M. Ball, secretary; Walter B. Lerner, treasurer; Mrs. Margaret Ford and Stanley Raymer. The executive officer of the Board is Dr. Harold H. Church who, with the Board, plans the curriculum, makes improvements, and provides equipment for the various schools.

BOARD OF EDUCATION: Messrs. Raymer, Lerner, Ball, Ullery, and Mrs. Ford.

YES, WE GREW UP . . . WE'RE SENIORS!

There it lay on the table—a dog-eared, much-used brown composition book with the words "Records of the class of '49" printed across the cover. The class of '49 . . . remember what wide-eyed sophs we were in the fall of '46 . . . the wild, frantic dashes we made from one room to another through strange, crowded halls . . . the bewildering maze of halls and rooms . . . the first lesson assignments . . . the football games at Rice Field, with hot dogs, cokes, and yells . . . "Make that kick! Make that kick!" . . . Basketball in the gym, with kids packed in the bleachers . . . the thrill that came when, for the first time as senior high students, we stood up and sang the school hymn at an assembly . . . "O, Elkhart High, we will be true, forever to your white and blue" . . . the gradual change from ex-ninth graders still loyal to Roosevelt or Central, to sophs really proud of our new school . . . remember?

On the first page of the brown composition book were the names of the sophomore class officers and sponsors: President, Marvin Scott; Vice-President, Kent Paulson; Secretary, Pat O'Dell; Treasurer, Joe Pindell; Social Chairmen, Phyllis Jennings, Dick Stackhouse; Sponsors, Miss Sawyer, Mr. Miller.

A few pages farther along, we found the record of the sophomore class party, which was held March 22, 1947. Remember the "Hayseed Hop?" . . . a crowd of jean-clad hicks . . . chorus lines . . . a song by "best-dressed" hayseeds, Connie Frye and Bill Boyden. . . .

Is this the way the tassel goes?

"WE KNEW EACH OTHER WHEN"

The next page bore the heading, concessions at sectional track meet, May 16, 1947. That was our first money-making project, and our last official activity, as sophomores.

We returned to E. H. S. as proud juniors. It was wonderful not to be the youngest and greenest class any more.

The brown record book went on recording the history of our class. . . . Junior class officers: President, Marvin Scott; Vice-President, John Davis; Secretary, Carolyn Peterson; Treasurer, Ronald Walton; Social Chairmen, Betty Embry, Howard Hostetler; Sponsors, Miss Sawyer, Mr. Wollenweber.

The Junior Follies was given Friday, October 17, 1947. The theme was developed around a luxury liner en route to New York from South America. . . . Famous people were traveling on the ship. Remember Jack Benny's violin solo? . . . Vera Vague and Bob Hope? . . . Nelson Eddy? . . . Remember how proud we were to have a sellout at the Follies?

The Junior Class Party, January 31, 1948, was called the Junior Jamboree.

The class play, "The Fighting Littles," which was given February 19 and 20.

The big occasion of our junior year, the Junior-Senior Prom, was held May 15 in the Athenian Ballroom at Hotel Elkhart. The Prom was built around a Spanish fiesta theme. Doc Boles orchestra played.

Fall came again, and we were officially seniors. Remember how strange being looked up to by underclassmen felt? We found it hard to believe that we were spending our last year at E. H. S.

The senior class officers were listed in the record books as follows: President, Bill Nye; Vice-President, John Davis; Secretary, Ellen Holdeman; Treasurer, Howard Hostetler; Social Chairmen, Nancy Whitt, Joe Pindell.

"Arsenic and Old Lace" was our senior play, with Carolyn Blough and Donna Farr as the two sweet old ladies.

More events were recorded in the book. . . . College Day, with its solemn atmosphere of looking-to-the-future. . . . Career night. . . . The Christmas assembly. . . . The holidays. . . . The Roman Banquet, "Trimalchio's Dinner Party" . . . choosing our caps and gowns . . . ordering name cards and graduation announcements . . . the Prom, given in our honor this year . . . the day the '49 annual, our yearbook, came out . . . the magazine drive . . . the last pep session . . . sectionals . . . our track queen. . . .

The record book was filled with plain facts, records, but to us, leafing through it, the records brought back real, live memories. We thought of Senior Day . . . Baccalaureate . . . the Senior Banquet . . . the tea . . . Commencement, and the diplomas which we received proudly . . . all the classes, assemblies, and activities were a part of the past, and now it is time for us to look to the future.

CLASS OF '50

The junior officers take time out from a busy year.

Coming back to the familiar halls of E. H. S. last fall, we selected our junior class officers: President, Bill Anderson; Vice-President, Phyllis Heeter; Secretary, Janice Simmons; Treasurer, Ralph Cortas; Social Chairmen, Nancy DeShone and Ora Mato. Our sophomore class sponsors were Mrs. Sickels and Mr. Hughes; however, since Mr. Hughes left at the end of our sophomore year, we chose Mr. Jordan to take his place.

The fourth annual Junior Follies, with a family album setting, was presented on November 19.

On March 11, our dramatic talent was displayed by our class play, "George Washington Slept Here," which was directed by Miss C. Hughes.

The climax of our activities was the Junior-Senior Prom, held in the Athenian Room of the Hotel Elkhart on May 28. Dale Higgin's Band played for the dancing.

CLASS OF 1951

Powdering their faces with sunshine.

Nearly four hundred sophomores entered E. H. S. in September, 1948. The class organized January 20th and chose Mr. Donald Winne and Miss Anna Amsbaugh as class sponsors. The following officers were elected: President, Dave Farley; Vice-President, Shirley Leonard; Secretary, Rowena Pletcher; Treasurer, Delvin Landis; Social Chairmen, Roberta Rude and Fred Stowe.

Soon after the first of the year, the class jewelry was selected by the following committee: Mary Whitt, Marilyn Kretschmer, Ronald Ganger and Gail Tharp. Also early in the year, captains collected class dues and turned them in to the treasurer, Delvin Landis.

The sophomore class had charge of the concessions for the Sectional Track Meet which was held May 13. The class of 1951 had its first party on the night of May 14 at Studebaker Park.

These soph officers begin class duties.

E L K H A R T ,      I N D I A N A . . .

the town in which we grew up and are growing up, is a typical American town: prosperous, thriving, progressive industrial city. Most of us, having grown up, stay here, or come back here after finding out that it's a good town to live in, to do business in.

The two rivers, forming the heart-shaped land that gave Elkhart its name, makes our town a beautiful one scenically. Nearby lakes and many parks provide us with places for recreation. Nationally-known products manufactured in up-to-date factories, specialized stores, railroads—these make Elkhart famous.

Our town has grown-up too. The business district is slowly changing. Interesting and picturesque old buildings are giving way to modern store fronts. The main street of 1877 has changed in appearance. Elkhart is growing in population, civic-awareness and importance.

NIBCO

COPPER TUBE FITTINGS

DRAINAGE FITTINGS

"Nothing but the best," was the rigid rule when the new Terrace Plaza in Cincinnati was planned. The most advanced ideas in structure and service facilities, the finest embodiment of those ideas in materials and equipment—these were the policies of the builders of this most modern hotel in the country.

That's why it means so much that Nibco fittings with copper tube were used throughout—for the heating, air conditioning and water lines and for the copper drainage fittings. Nibco fittings in sizes up to 6 inches were installed in this job by the E. J. Nolan Corporation and the Carrier Corporation, and were supplied by the Mutual Manufacturing and Supply Co., Nibco distributors in Cincinnati.

Over 7 miles of piping were required for the system which heats—and cools—the hotel, with individual controls in every room. Materials throughout were chosen to cut maintenance costs to the bone. Nibco fittings were chosen for quality first, and for completeness of the line to meet all needs.

For every job—large or small—it will pay you to standardize on Nibco fittings. They help speed the job and insure customer satisfaction.

TO MAKE ELKHART A MORE BEAUTIFUL PLACE TO LIVE

One may take any vacant property and improve it with trees, fruit trees for instance. It takes a Northern Spy apple tree 15 years to bear fruit from the date it is started and most people do not look that far ahead. Years go past fast when one looks back and if you have no trees to show, you have missed something on life's highway.

The best way to plant a tree is from the seed, as it then grows according to all conditions and needs less attention, because grown the natural way.

A local man once bought several acres alongside a flowing stream. He planted seven different varieties of evergreen trees over it and had much pleasure watching them grow. In less than ten years he was offered $10,000.00 for the property just as a building site for a residence, as it could not be duplicated elsewhere.

There are many people who destroy trees, who never plant any. There is no better monument to leave along highways and streams than trees, planted for people to enjoy for many future years. Even if you plant them from the seed, they are apt to grow, at least some of them and if you plant a few each year, one will have much pleasure through life watching them grow into beautiful landscapes.
